Laudato Si' and Integral Ecology

Join Laudato Si' Revolution

There are a lot of overlapping crises today that sometimes leave even the most optimistic of us feeling disheartened and overwhelmed. We know that you are trying to do something positive about it but probably wonder – what else can I do? There is so much at stake!

Join Laudato Si' Revolution. We need you to be part of this global Franciscan movement for ecological conversion and systemic change. Will you help us to make it successful? But to do that, good preparation is critical. This is why Franciscan Justice, Peace and the Integrity of Creation Office in Rome offers you a free Laudato Si' and Integral Ecology online course.

Each of the ten sessions of this online course consists of a video lecture, reading material, and short test. The curriculum features a diverse group of presenters: theologians, scientists, teachers, and activists. In this course, the registered participants will learn from different Franciscan perspectives, faith-based environmental activism, and Jewish and Muslim viewpoints about the practical implications of the encyclical Laudato Si'.

Our Franciscan Laudato Si' online course is flexible. It allows you to do the weekly sessions (a 10-minute video, a few pages of reading, and a short test) at the time that is most convenient for you.

THE COURSE WILL START ON SEPTEMBER 7, 2020
