SCL Health Appoints CFO Jumonville to Interim President and CEO

BROOMFIELD, COLO. — (April 3, 2017) – SCL Health, a faith-based, regional provider of nonprofit healthcare services, announced today that Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer Lydia Jumonville will serve as Interim President and Chief Executive Officer, following news that Michael A. Slubowski is leaving the organization in May for another opportunity.

“The SCL Health Board of Directors and Sponsor Leaven Ministries are grateful to Lydia for accepting these expanded leadership duties,” said Kathryn (Kate) Paul, SCL Health Board Chair. “We are fortunate that our ministry has highly qualified and engaged leaders who are willing to contribute their time and talent when the need arises.”

Jumonville joined SCL Health as CFO in June 2010, having previously served as Senior Vice President and CFO of Baylor Health Care System in Dallas. A finance executive with more than 30 years of experience, including providing tax compliance and consulting to real estate and healthcare clients of Arthur Andersen LLP, she holds a bachelor’s degree from Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and is a certified public accountant.

“My passion is faith-based, nonprofit healthcare, and I’ve been blessed to support SCL Health the past seven years. I am honored and humbled to have been selected to steward our health system during this transition period.”

The SCL Health Board has formed a committee that will pursue a national search in the coming months to recruit an executive to assume SCL Health’s top leadership position.
