Mary Ann Steiner

Editor, Health Progress
Catholic Health Association of the United States
St. Louis

Mary Ann Steiner is the editor of Health Progress, the official journal of the Catholic Health Association of the United States. She is responsible for setting editorial philosophy and standards, working with authors, coordinating the journal's Editorial Advisory Committee and supervising the editorial staff. Before joining CHA in 2013, Ms. Steiner served as coordinator of the Ashley-O'Rourke Center for Health Care Ministry Leadership at Aquinas Institute of Theology, and before that director of publications for the Saint Louis Art Museum. She has been a consultant and editor for publications in the arts and adult education throughout the country. She earned her BA in philosophy from UM-St. Louis and her MA in health care mission from Aquinas Institute of Theology.
